BOCA RATON, FL -- Think Pink Rocks is gearing up for its breast cancer event set for Saturday, October 3rd. This is the second year for the concert. This October, it's set to be a star-filled night once again with singers Akon, Melanie Fiona, Shontelle and American Yard. The hosts of the concert will be Terrence and Rocsi of BET's "106 and Park."

The organization was put together after Stephanie Robin of Boca Raton was diagnosed with breast cancer in 2004. Stephanie and a group of friends started Think Pink Rocks to bring awareness to breast cancer and how it affects women and men in the United States. Stephanie has such a desire to help others battling cancer, as she herself continues to receive monthly treatments this year. She had a double mastectomy with reconstruction and chemotherapy. The cancer returned to her lungs. She is now receiving treatments at Memorial Sloan-Kettering which has helped her tumors decrease in size.

Proceeds from the Think Pink Rocks Concert in October will benefit several organizations, including Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, The American Cancer Society/Making Strides Against Breast Cancer, Susan G. Komen Foundation and Project Hope.
